WILSON AND MARSHALL WILL BE CHOICE OF DEMOCRATS

WILSON SPEAKS ON FOREIGN INSULTS

America First, He Says, and Warns the Kaiser That He Must Respect This Nation

(By Associated Press.)
WEST POINT, N. Y., June 13.—President Wilson in making his first address since the campaign began discussed preparedness, militarism, Americanism, cause of the war in Europe, peace, the Monroe doctrine, divided allegiance and the ideals of America. He declared it was the present imperative duty of the United States to be prepared adding, "by making the German know that when an American speaks he means what he says."

Shaking a finger emphatically he said nobody who does not put America first can not be tolerated.

General Goethals is here and it is expected he will confer with Wilson regarding his desire to retire.

(By Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, June 13.—Delegates gathering here have turned from a discussion of the ticket, which they feel hourly is more certain of being Wilson and Marshall, toward the consideration of a chairman of the national committee to manage the campaign. Three names are considered: William B. Salisbury, Delaware; Homer H. Cummings, of Connecticut, and Colonel E. M. House.

While it is likely to include the form of a suffrage plank the convention will probably give the issue no stronger endorsement than what was vouchsafed by the Republicans, a leader declared. The women's party is preparing to fight.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 13.—The new committee meets Saturday when it will select a chairman. Cummings is almost certain if the chairman comes from the committee. Prospects of a fight over the vice-presidential nomination have diminished and delegates are lining up for Marshall. The Sullivan boom is not taken seriously even by himself. There is some talk of a coalition of western states to obtain the nomination of a western man.

BRITISH ADMIRAL RETURNS HOME

PROMINENT FIGURE IN NEGOTIATIONS TO HOLD GREECE IN LINE

(By Associated Press.)
ATHENS, June 13.—It is announced that Rear Admiral Hubert S. Cardale, the acting head of the British Naval Academy in Greece and at present the ranking officer of the Royal Hellenic navy on active service, will soon relinquish his post and leave Greece. He has been one of the most prominent figures in Athens during the war, for in his dual capacity as a Britisher and an admiral of the Greek navy, he has been a factor in the quieting of many of the internal dissensions in this country, which, ever since the war started, has been the scene of a continual pulling and hauling of warring interests.

One day Admiral Cardale has been called upon to pronounce for the "King's party" and again, on the next day, to speak for the Venizelists, the adherents of the popular statesman who desired to see Greece take up arms against the central powers. The admiral appears to have been a favorite of both King Constantine and Venizelos. His relations with the royal family are of long standing, beginning with his service under the personal command of the then Crown Prince Constantine in the first Balkan war. Recently the king acted as god-father to the admiral's son, naming the infant Constantine.

On the outbreak of the European war in 1914 Admiral Cardale, securing a leave from the Greek government, took the squad of British naval gunners in Serbia in hand, organized the British, French and Russian heavy ar-

FIN FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED ROOM

WHAT WAS REPORTED AS A VIOLENT DEATH TURNS OUT TO BE NATURAL DEMISE

Herman Salampa, a member of the Finnish colony in the east end of camp was found dead in his bedroom at 1 o'clock this morning and the coroner was notified. The dead man suffered from miner's consumption and for some time past has tried to drown his sorrow in liquor. He came home late last night and mumbled something about having been in a fight and been struck over the head with a chair. In proof of this statement he exhibited several contusions but nothing was thought of the matter until he was found dead. Inquiry developed the fact that Salampa had been indulging last evening and on returning home fell down a flight of stairs sustaining the bruises.

Justice Dunseath made a hasty examination of the remains last night and listened to the statements of some friends of deceased and then concluded that death was not caused by any assault.

NEW AUTO BURNED IN LOCKED GARAGE

STRANGE FIRE CARRIES WITH IT A NEW BUICK, GARAGE AND ADJOINING HOUSE

At 8:20 this morning the Desert Queen whistle sounded an alarm for a fire that broke out on the heights of University street overlooking the south side of town. Fire that had broken out in the garage owned by C. O. Dresser opposite his residence. Mrs. Dresser discovered the fire a few seconds before the keen eyed watchman on the slope of Mount Oddie saw it and she notified the department and summoned her husband from the store. Mrs. Dresser said she had gone to the front door when she was startled on seeing flames issuing from the roof of the garage. In a minute the entire structure was aflame and the adjoining house occupied by J. W. Mashburn, was blazing from the intense heat generated from the burning of a tank of gasoline. The furniture was removed from the Mashburn house.

The garage stood about four feet above the ground in the rear and it is supposed that children playing under the floor lighted matches which communicated fire to the interior. The garage contained a new Buick touring car which was a total loss. Mr. Dresser said he had not been in the garage this morning and the place was locked securely against all intruders so he cannot form any other theory about the origin of the fire except it was due to boys. The damage is estimated at $2,000 with out any insurance.

YANKEE HATRED SHOWS ITSELF

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—The secretary of state was advised of more favorable conditions in northern Mexico while others reported further anti-American demonstrations. The agitation has subsided in Chihuahua City.

It is known that some officials here feel certain that a definite propaganda has been carried out without Carranza's approval. He said the rioters had not distinguished between Americans and foreigners, although the basis of the disorders is the presence of American troops in Mexico.

GIRL STARTLES COURT BY RE-CANTING TESTIMONY BEFORE THE CORONER

(By Associated Press.)
WAUKEGAN, June 13.—Josephine Davis, a chum of Marion Lambert, resumed the stand today. She provided a distinct sensation when she proved a better witness for the defense than the prosecution stating she testified falsely at the inquest which she desired to correct. Josephine Davis testified that Marion Lambert threatened to commit suicide if it proved true that Orpet had transferred his affections to another. She completely repudiated her previous stories relative to the cheerfulness of Marion and told of spells of depression when Marion feared she was in a delicate condition.

HANG OUT THE FLAG TOMORROW IN HONOR OF THE STARRY BANNER

In this day of preparedness and protestations of loyalty it is timely to remind every citizen of Tonopah that the Elks are going to celebrate Flag Day tomorrow with a patriotic programme. In the absence of any other celebration a cordial invitation is extended to the public to join the Elks in the evening at their hall. During the day it is suggested that every householder and business man who prides himself on owning a flag should throw it to the breeze to remind his neighbors that American citizenship is first, last and all time the thought of every liberty loving citizen.

The exercises will begin at 7:45 o'clock, when every one who proposes to attend is expected to be seated so there will not be any disturbance after the programme begins. The order will be as follows:
